

Marketplace Supplier Returns & Chargeback Policy

Version 3.4 | Internal Use Only | Owner: Marketplace Seller Operations

1. Return Window

Customers may return marketplace items within 30 calendar days of delivery. Electronics carry an extended 45-day window. Perishable and clearance items are final sale and are not eligible for return.

2. Chargeback Liability

Where a return results from seller error — wrong item shipped, item not as described, or damage in seller-controlled packaging — the seller is charged a flat handling fee of $6.50 per unit plus return shipping. Where the return results from carrier damage, the platform absorbs the cost and the seller is not charged.

3. Dispute Escalation

A seller may dispute a chargeback within 14 days of assessment by opening a case with Seller Operations. Disputes are resolved within 10 business days. An unresolved dispute automatically escalates to the Marketplace Trust Council on day 11 — sellers do not need to escalate manually.

4. Suspension Triggers

A seller account is placed under review when the seller-fault return rate exceeds 4% of orders over a rolling 60-day window. Two consecutive review periods above threshold trigger listing suspension. Product safety recalls bypass this process entirely and result in immediate delisting.
